Exiled Cubans To Ask Cut In Castro's Price for Invaders

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban exile negotiators will fly to Havana Tuesday in hopes of inducing Prime Minister Fidel Castro to reduce the $62 million set as ransom for their sons and husbands captured at the Bay of Pigs.

A spokesman for the Cuban Families Committee said Castro replied favorably Sunday night to a cable seeking an audience with him.

Drumming-Out Rites Halted By Marines

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The commandant of the Marine Corps has ordered a halt to the drumming out of disgraced Marines, a ceremony revived by a Norfolk commander.

The commandant, Gen. David M. Shoup, said Saturday he had ordered an inspector general's investigation of the matter.

"The local commander neither asked for nor was given authorization for the ceremony," said Shoup.

Col. William C. Capehart revived the practice in August 1960 at the Norfolk Marine Barracks, and since that time at least seven Marines have been drummed out of the corps.

In the grim ceremony, the disgraced Marine is marched before a formation of troops while the "death march" is slowly tapped out on the drums. His bad conduct discharge orders are read aloud. Then an officer of the guard comments: "Escort this man from the confines of this U.S. Navy reservation."

The ex-Marine is marched down the line of troops. As he reaches each unit, the commander orders "About face" and the passing Marine is presented with a row of unfriendly backs.

Capehart said the ceremony was not intended "to humiliate or degrade the individual," but "simply to impress on other Marines who might be headed to a bad conduct discharge the seriousness and ultimate consequences of their actions."

Creek Croaker Wins Broadjump

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP)—Herbie, a crackerjack croaker recruited from a creek near Olivenhain, got off the top hop Sunday at the ninth annual Southern California jumping frog championship.

Herbie, a California leopard-spotted hopper, won the broad jump with a cumulative three-leap distance of 13 feet, 3 inches.

Herbie was entered by John F. Davis, 28, an apprentice plumber from Olivenhain, 30 miles north of San Diego. The championship was sponsored by the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce as a cancer fund benefit.

Missing from the field was Astro, winner of the jump here last year. What happened was a cat got a frog in its throat. It was Astro.

WEST WEIGHS PLEA TO REDS

More Terror Hits Algeria After Election

PARIS (AP)—French voters have overwhelmingly approved President Charles de Gaulle's peace pact with the Algerian nationalists. The Secret Army Organization, fighting to keep Algeria French, replied with more terrorist killings and defiant proclamations printed in newspaper plants occupied at gunpoint.

Sixty-five per cent of the 26,983,275 voters in metropolitan France endorsed De Gaulle's Algerian policy Sunday in response to his plea for a public show of confidence. Only 25 per cent of the registered voters failed to cast ballots, and 90 per cent of the valid ballots were cast in favor of the peace agreement.

There was no voting in Algeria itself. European extremists there killed at least 26 persons and wounded 67.

Commando bands raided plants of the Oran Echo and Oran Republican in the west Algerian port city early today and forced pressmen at gunpoint to run off thousands of copies of the papers labeled "Special Secret Army Edition."

The rightist secret army was dealt a psychological setback, however, by the French people's thunderous endorsement of De Gaulle's Algerian policy even though it means the end of the once far-flung French empire.

Incomplete returns from metropolitan France and Corsica were: yes, 17,505,473; no, 1,794,553. A total of 1,102,477 ballots were invalid.

De Gaulle's supporters heralded the verdict as a ringing vote of confidence in all aspects of his four-year-old regime. Socialists and Communists, however, emphasized they were backing only his Algerian policy.

De Gaulle put before the voters a two-point proposal. One called for confirmation of the cease-fire signed with the Algerian rebel command at Evian on March 19. The other asked for blank-check powers to make Algeria an independent Moslem-ruled nation if—as everyone expects—the Algerians favor independence in a self-determination referendum later this year.

A 12-man provisional executive dominated by Moslems already is preparing the ground in Algeria for the self-determination vote. A French high commissioner is still in charge, however, until an independent Algerian government takes over.

Two Suffer Minor Hurts In Collision

Two persons suffered minor injuries in a two-car collision at 11:44 a. m. Sunday at Main and Washington Sts.

One of the autos was driven by Ethel Brobst, 69, of 108 S. Pickaway St. She complained of slight neck pains.

The other vehicle was operated by Marie C. Hingsinger, 19, Clifton, N. J. A passenger in her car, Irene Natoli, 22, Passaic, N. J., suffered lacerations of the right cheek and right ear and a bump on the head.

Patrolman William Goff said the Hingsinger car struck the Brobst auto in the rear. Both vehicles were headed west on Main St.

MISS Hingsinger said she glanced down to look at a road map and did not see the Brobst car which had stopped for a traffic light.

Patrolman Goff said the front end of the Hingsinger auto was demolished. The rear of the Brobst car was extensively damaged, he added.

A two-car accident on Route 62 and the Williamsport - Palestine Road at 4:15 p. m. Saturday resulted in injuries to three persons from New Holland.

Dorothy C. Shaw, 35, driver of one of the cars, suffered facial injuries. Two passengers, Gladys Shaw, 62, and Patricia Morgan, 13, received bruised knees. All were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital in Washington C. H.

The other auto was operated by Jeanne K. Rolfe, 16, Route 1, Orient. She was not injured.

Both vehicles were traveling south on Route 62. Deputy Sheriff Dixie Watters said the Rolfe car, halted prior to making a left turn, was struck in the rear by the other auto.

Deputy Watters said both cars were extensively damaged.

Influence of Ultraconservatives Now Appearing on Wane in Both Parties

WASHINGTON (AP)—The prospect that ultraconservatives will influence the course of the major political parties in this fall's congressional elections appears to be fading.

Leaders of both parties, in fact, are busy posting keep-away signs against zealous citizens who profess to feel that some of the nation's highest officials are entrapped in a Communist conspiracy.

The signs apply also to those who, among other things, want to abolish the income tax and to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren.

This was demonstrated in the frosty reception Republicans and Democrats gave last week to former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker when he questioned the loyalty of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and others in testimony before a Senate Armed Services subcommittee.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., who sparked the inquiry into alleged muzzling of military men at which Walker appeared, made it clear several times he was not endorsing the general's statements.

Walker's performance on the witness stand convinced most of the politicians who heard him that the former general is not likely to become an effective spokesman for the far right.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., said he couldn't go along with Walker's charges. Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said they weren't supported by the record.

Sen. John M. Stennis, D-Miss., head of the Senate group that heard Walker's testimony, said he has no intention of calling for an inquiry into the records of persons accused by the former general of being soft on communism.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Walker's appearance to tee off against what he called the "radical right in the Democratic party." Walker is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor in Texas. His chances are regarded as poor.

Javits said in a New York television broadcast Sunday that "the radical right is not only a threat to the Republican party, it is also a threat to the Democratic party."

But Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., who votes with the Kennedy administration on just about everything but civil rights, said in an interview he wasn't worried by any right-wing threat to his party.

"The truth of the matter is," he said, "I don't think these people are going to have any real influence in either party."

Sen. Stennis said he was not worried by the right-wing threat to his party.

7 Adventurers To Leave Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate takes up today a $13-billion appropriation for military hardware—but the opening of the baseball season may get in the way.

There isn't likely to be too much action in the House, either, as the Washington Senators play the Detroit Tigers in the new D.C. Stadium after President Kennedy throws out the first ball.

The $12,969,300,000 authorization for aircraft, missiles and ships to be taken up by the Senate won unanimous approval from its Armed Services Committee and the House.

Included is $491 million to push development of the high-flying RS70 aircraft. This is $320 million more than Kennedy or Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara asked for or plan to spend on the reconnaissance strike plane.

Although the defense authorization bill included all the unasked RS70 funds voted by the House, it dropped some $96 million of other above-budget items approved there.

These included more than $55 million to buy additional aircraft for the Army, $31 million extra for Army missiles and $10 million additional to provide more Minuteman missiles for the Air Force.

The Armed Services Committee Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., was ready to explain the defense authorization measure as the Senate met at noon. No major opposition was forecast but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said passage was possible only if no roll-call votes were asked.

The absence of senators who are baseball fans would make a completed rollcall vote unlikely.

House leaders said frankly no business was planned in their chamber because of the ball game. The only major bill listed for House action this week was the appropriation bill providing operating funds for Congress and its related agencies in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will hear witnesses all week on the administration's $4.9-billion foreign aid request for fiscal 1963.

Nuclear Arms Test Holdoff May Be Asked

Reply to Japanese
Protest to U.S. Hinges
On Action by Soviet

LONDON (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan were reported today to be weighing an urgent new plea to Soviet Premier Khrushchev to help stave off resumption of atmospheric nuclear weapon tests.

British sources said the step is under high-level study in Washington and London and a decision may be near. It probably would take the form of a personal message asking Khrushchev to make a test-ban treaty possible.

Khrushchev could do this by allowing referee-groups to investigate and verify any big bangs that sound like nuclear test blasts. For months he has been refusing to do this. Russia argues fair play can be insured by faraway detecting gadgets. Teams of detectives would only snoop and spy, in Khrushchev's view.

The idea behind the proposed Kennedy-Macmillan appeal, according to informants, is to give Khrushchev a last chance to change his mind before a new round of nuclear tests begins. The Americans are planning a series on Christmas Island in the Pacific later this month. The Russians have said they will resume their own firings if the American test plans go through.

Kennedy and Macmillan, despite the advice of their military men, are believed reluctant to start another round of competitive East-West testing.

Both have recognized they have little option after the Soviet Union last fall fired off half a hundred shots, giving the Russians a chance to perfect new weapons and techniques.

In Washington, U.S. officials indicated today that Japan's protest over establishment of a nuclear test zone around Christmas Island in the Pacific would be turned down.

Only a sudden change of heart by the Soviet Union, leading to a nuclear test ban treaty with inspection, could alter this, officials indicated.

2 American Advisers Killed In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist guerrillas killed two American military advisers to South Viet Nam troops and apparently captured two others Sunday in an ambush near a U.S. helicopter base 360 miles north of Saigon.

The four enlisted men were ambushed on a training mission with Vietnamese soldiers near the town of An Chau, on the South China Sea, U.S. military authorities said.

Reports reaching Saigon said the four were with a group of 35 Vietnamese soldiers at a government outpost when a large Viet Cong band attacked. One Vietnamese was also killed and four wounded.

The Communists withdrew 15 minutes after the raid, apparently expecting a government air strike, the reports said. A government relief force arrived too late to engage the guerrillas.

The ambush brought American casualties in South Viet Nam since last Dec. 1 to 18 killed, 2 wounded and 3 missing. Only one of the previous dead was killed by the Viet Cong. The other American deaths were accidental.

No Pink Elephant in Bar; Just Lion

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—"Close the door," shouted the bartender, "there's a lion out there."

And there she was on the hood of Sgt. Bernard Molner's cruiser, roaring and licking raindrops off the windshield.

She was Carmen, the larger of the pair of circus lions which had escaped from a truck at the edge of the main Omaha business district Saturday night. She had cuffed but not seriously injured a pedestrian.

Molner had trapped her in the entryway to the bar by driving his cruiser onto the sidewalk to block the exit.

Police with riot guns trained on the big cat formed a semicircle around the entrance. They brought in dogs to hold back a crowd of 500 or more curious.

At the City Auditorium a block away the wrestling matches had just ended and nearly 5,000 fans had started for the exits when word spread that the lions were free.

"We had to lock them in the lobby until the animals were caught," said manager Charles Mancuso. "It was a real panic."

Guy Gossing, Carmen's Belgian-born trainer, arrived with a net and a chair. The shouting crowds and barking dogs made the lion more unruly.

"Please, quiet," he pleaded. After almost an hour Carmen finally was coaxed into a police paddywagon which had replaced Molner's cruiser. Gossing was on the point of collapse.

Meanwhile, a man had breathlessly informed police: "I may be mistaken but I think there's a lion in the stairway behind the Ace Bar."

It turned out to be Diane, Carmen's missing companion. Her cage was brought from the truck and Gossing coaxed her in—an hour and 45 minutes after the first lion alarm.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., who sparked the inquiry into alleged muzzling of military men at which Walker appeared, made it clear several times he was not endorsing the general's statements.

Walker's performance on the witness stand convinced most of the politicians who heard him that the former general is not likely to become an effective spokesman for the far right.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., said he couldn't go along with Walker's charges. Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said they weren't supported by the record.

Sen. John M. Stennis, D-Miss., head of the Senate group that heard Walker's testimony, said he has no intention of calling for an inquiry into the records of persons accused by the former general of being soft on communism.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., used Walker's appearance to tee off against what he called the "radical right in the Democratic party." Walker is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor in Texas. His chances are regarded as poor.

Javits said in a New York television broadcast Sunday that "the radical right is not only a threat to the Republican party, it is also a threat to the Democratic party."

But Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., who votes with the Kennedy administration on just about everything but civil rights, said in an interview he wasn't worried by any right-wing threat to his party.

"The truth of the matter is," he said, "I don't think these people are going to have any real influence in either party."

7 Adventurers To Leave Cuba

Americans Are Guests Of Castro Government

HAVANA (AP)—Seven Americans shipwrecked off Cuba on a treasure hunting expedition hoped to get a plane for Miami Tuesday, after being freed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government.

Gordon S. Patton, 62, of Ocean City, Md., leader of the party, said they had been treated very nicely by the Cubans, who arrested them when they made it to shore on the north coast of Cuba.

The Americans are staying at a luxury hotel with the Castro government apparently footing the bill—even for a night club outing Saturday night.

Cuban authorities were suspicious when they seized the skin divers last week on the coast of Oriente Province. They cleared them after an investigation.

The Americans said their 46-foot yacht, the Pisces, broke up and sank in a storm off Baracoa near Cuba's easternmost tip last Thursday while they were on the way to Jamaica in search of sunken Spanish treasure.

"We came ashore at a very remote place," said Bernie Nistad of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Cuban suspicions apparently were aroused by the equipment they carried—dynamite to blast coral rock off sunken ships, a two-man submarine, a pistol and a rifle.

The United States does not have diplomatic relations with the Castro regime, but the Swiss ambassador interceded for the men on behalf of the State Department. The Swiss offered to pay the Americans' hotel bill but the hotel declined any money and indicated everything was being taken care of by the Cuban government.

With Patton and Nistad on the expedition were Fred Dickson Jr., formerly of Ocean City, N.J.; Mike Freeman, 37, of Washington, D.C.; John Sterry, 28, of Brewster, N.Y.; John E. Johnson, 21, and Joe Campbell, 20, of Washington, D.C.

Geographic Society To Honor Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. tonight receives the National Geographic Society's highest award for exploration and research.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is scheduled to make the presentation to the Marine Lieutenant colonel who last Feb. 20 became the first American to orbit the earth.

The society said it was giving Glenn his Hubbard Medal in recognition of his "extraordinary contributions to scientific knowledge of the world and beyond as a pioneer in exploring the ocean of space."

Molner had trapped her in the entryway to the bar by driving his cruiser onto the sidewalk to block the exit.

Police with riot guns trained on the big cat formed a semi-circle around the entrance. They brought in dogs to hold back a crowd of 500 or more curious.

At the City Auditorium a block away the wrestling matches had just ended and nearly 5,000 fans had started for the exits when word spread that the lions were free.

"We had to lock them in the lobby until the animals were caught," said manager Charles Mancuso. "It was a real panic."

Guy Gossing, Carmen's Belgian-born trainer, arrived with a net and a chair. The shouting crowds and barking dogs made the lion more unruly.

"Please, quiet," he pleaded.

After almost an hour Carmen finally was coaxed into a police

Solons May Put Baseball Ahead of Defense Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate takes up today a $13-billion appropriation for military hardware—but the opening of the baseball season may get in the way.

There isn't likely to be too much action in the House, either, as the Washington Senators play the Detroit Tigers in the new D.C. Stadium after President Kennedy throws out the first ball.

The $12,969,300,000 authorization for aircraft, missiles and ships to be taken up by the Senate was unanimous approval from its Armed Services Committee and the House.

Included is $491 million to push development of the high-flying RS70 aircraft. This is $320 million more than Kennedy or Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara asked for or plan to spend on the reconnaissance strike plane.

Although the defense authorization bill included all the unasked RS70 funds voted by the House, it dropped some $96 million of other above-budget items approved there.

These included more than $55 million to buy additional aircraft for the Army, $31 million extra for Army missiles and $10 million additional to provide more Minuteman missiles for the Air Force.

The Armed Services Committee Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., was ready to explain the defense authorization measure as the Senate met at noon. No major opposition was forecast but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said passage was possible only if no roll-call votes were asked.

The absence of senators who are baseball fans would make a completed rollcall vote unlikely.

House leaders said frankly no business was planned in their chamber because of the ball game. The only major bill listed for House action this week was the appropriation bill providing operating funds for Congress and its related agencies in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will hear witnesses all week on the administration's $4.9-billion foreign aid request for fiscal 1963.

House committees continue work this week on the foreign relations bill and the administration's trade program.

4 Major U.S. Church Groups Meet To Study Merger Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representatives of four major Christian denominations meet today to explore prospects for merger.

Involved in the first joint session of its scope looking toward a possible United Protestantism in America are four denominations with nearly 19 million members. They are:

The Methodist Church, the nation's largest Protestant body, with 10,046,293 members.

The Protestant Episcopal Church with 3,500,000 members.

The United Presbyterian Church with 3,249,011 members.

The United Church of Christ, a recent merger of Congregational Christian and Evangelical and Reformed Church, with 2,015,037 members.

No decisive actions are expected at the initial two-day conference, which plans only to set up organization and procedures for continuing negotiations.

Other denominations may be invited to join in future negotiating sessions.

The goal, if agreements can be reached, is establishment of a united church "truly catholic, truly reformed, and truly evangelical."

The move was originally sparked on Dec. 4, 1960, in a sermon at San Francisco's Episcopal Cathedral by the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia.

Merger of the four communions would bring together Christians retaining age-old creeds and traditional liturgies, and those with more informal non-ritualistic customs.

However, the roots of all four groups intertwine back in the early days of the Protestant reformation 450 years ago.

Dr. Blake has estimated that even if good progress is made, it would take at least 10 years to form the merger.

White House Visit Total Sets Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House reports more tourists passed through its doors Saturday than in any other single day in history.

The record number of 18,229 bettered by about 5,000 the previous high for any single day, the press office said.

This was the first Saturday when tourists were permitted to view the executive mansion from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m. The old hours were 10 a. m. to noon.

University Spokesman Not Hep to New Books

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Radio station WMAK telephoned Vanderbilt University's English department for comment on the suitability of the controversial novel, "Tropic of Cancer."

"I haven't read the book," a man's voice replied. "Why don't you call the medical department since the book deals with cancer."

Probers Study Shipping Strike

Taft-Hartley Law Used In West Coast Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—A three-man board of inquiry appointed by President Kennedy under the Taft-Hartley law begins today its investigation of a West Coast maritime strike that has caused food shortages in Hawaii.

In designating the board Saturday, the President took the first step toward getting an injunction to end the strike, now in its fourth week.

Representatives of the Pacific Maritime Association and three seafaring unions striking 12 of its ship lines arranged to submit statements giving their versions of the dispute.

The board has until Wednesday to report to the President. Then he may ask Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to seek a federal court injunction sending the 5,000 strikers back to work during an 80-day cooling-off period. If the strike is not settled by then, the unions would be free once again to call their men off.

The shipowners had urged the government to try to settle the strike by means other than Taft-Hartley machinery. They said an 80-day cooling-off period would not be time enough to move sufficient cargo and that the strike could resume again afterward.

The spokesman for the striking unions, Morris Weisberger, secretary of the Sailors Union of the Pacific, was asked in San Francisco if he would fight the injunction. He withheld comment.

Gov. William F. Quinn of Hawaii had made several appeals to the White House for direct intervention. He had declared a food emergency in his island state, which was particularly hard hit by the strike.

In his order establishing the board Kennedy said the strike had affected a substantial part of the maritime industry and would, "if permitted to continue, imperil the national health and safety."

Foe Expects JFK and RFK To Aid Teddy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward McCormack says he assumes President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy will do all they can to help their younger brother, Edward, in his bid for the U.S. Senate.

But so far, McCormack said Sunday, he has seen no indication that the older Kennedy brothers have intervened in the Massachusetts Democratic battle.

McCormack, Edward (Ted) Kennedy, Harvard Prof. H. Stuart Hughes and William E. Higham are seeking the Democratic Senate nomination in the Sept. 18 primary election.

McCormack, nephew of Speaker of the House John W. McCormack, also said in a television interview NBC "Meet the Press" that he is in the race to stay at least through the Democratic convention of June 7, which will endorse one of the candidates.

He said he holds a 2-1 lead in the delegates chosen to date and "I am going to win the convention. If I don't win, my decision as to whether to go further will depend on whether the delegates had a free and independent choice."

Nuclear Arms Test Holdoff May Be Asked

Reply to Japanese Protest to U.S. Hinges On Action by Soviet

LONDON (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan were reported today to be weighing an urgent new plea to Soviet Premier Khrushchev to help stave off resumption of atmospheric nuclear weapon tests.

British sources said the step is under high-level study in Washington and London and a decision may be near. It probably would take the form of a personal message asking Khrushchev to make a test-ban treaty possible.

Khrushchev could do this by allowing referee-groups to investigate and verify any big bangs that sound like nuclear test blasts. For months he has been refusing to do this. Russia argues fair play can be insured by faraway detecting gadgets. Teams of detectives would only snoop and spy, in Khrushchev's view.

The idea behind the proposed Kennedy-Macmillan appeal, according to informants, is to give Khrushchev a last chance to change his mind before a new round of nuclear tests begins. The Americans are planning a series on Christmas Island in the Pacific later this month. The Russians have said they will resume their own firings if the American test plans go through.

Kennedy and Macmillan, despite the advice of their military men, are believed reluctant to start another round of competitive East-West testing.

Both have recognized they have little option after the Soviet Union last fall fired off half a hundred shots, giving the Russians a chance to perfect new weapons and techniques.

In Washington, U.S. officials indicated today that Japan's protest over establishment of a nuclear test zone around Christmas Island in the Pacific would be turned down.

Only a sudden change of heart by the Soviet Union, leading to a nuclear test ban treaty with inspection, could alter this, officials indicated.

2 American Advisers Killed In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist guerrillas killed two American military advisers to South Viet Nam troops and apparently captured two others Sunday in an ambush near a U.S. helicopter base 360 miles north of Saigon.

The four enlisted men were ambushed on a training mission with Vietnamese soldiers near the town of An Chau, on the South China Sea, U.S. military authorities said.

Reports reaching Saigon said the four were with a group of 35 Vietnamese soldiers at a government outpost when a large Viet Cong band attacked. One Vietnamese was also killed and four wounded.

The Communists withdrew 15 minutes after the raid, apparently expecting a government air strike, the reports said. A government relief force arrived too late to engage the guerrillas.

The ambush brought American casualties in South Viet Nam since last Dec. 1 to 18 killed, 2 wounded and 3 missing. Only one of the previous dead was killed by the Viet Cong. The other American deaths were accidental.

South Vietnamese troops killed 25 guerrillas in a weekend attack near the Cambodian border, the semi-official news agency said.

2nd Brain Operation Revives Ailing Boxer

BLUEFIELD, W.Va. (AP)—Boxer Tunney Hunsaker has awakened from a coma after a second brain operation. However a physician warned that the heavy-weight's condition still was critical.

The fighter, after his second trip to the operation room, emerged from a coma into which he lapsed after the fight with Joe Sheldon of Cleveland. He was knocked out in the 10th round.

$1,353,177 Tax Money Distributed

A total of $1,353,177.39 has been collected and distributed by the Pickaway County Treasurer and Auditor offices for the February settlement of real estate, house trailer, inheritance and irreducible debt taxes, Auditor Marvin Rhoades announced today.

Major share of the money was distributed to the county's 33 government subdivisions and school districts. The February settlement is for December collections, Auditor Rhoades said. The next similar settlement is due in August.

The bulk of the December collection, $1,296,193.12, was provided by real estate taxes in the county's 33 subdivisions.

Mrs. Rhoades, devoting most of last week toward completion of the settlement, said inheritance tax provided $43,918.94. Trailer tax collections were set at $10,182.65 and the irreducible debt at $2,882.68.

Payments made by the auditor were:

Six Treated At Hospital

Six emergencies resulting from minor accidents were treated in the emergency room of Berger Hospital during the weekend.

Janie Wiggins, 12, daughter of Burl Wiggins, Route 3, was struck in the head with a baseball bat while playing. She was treated for a laceration of the left eyebrow.

Elmoyn Plotts, 38, Route 1, Williamsport, burned his hand with a welding torch while working at the Dunlap Implement Co., Williamsport. He was treated for first and second degree burns of the left hand.

David Greeno, 26, Route 2, fell on a bottle opener and cut his right arm.

Steven Davis, 4, 410 Brown St., while at home, fell through a storm window, cutting his left wrist.

Annette Moss, 13 months, daughter of Harold Moss, Route 1, Kingston, accidentally pulled a television set off a stand. She was treated for a laceration of the right eyebrow.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The leader of 51 members of the Strike for Peace Movement says the group hopes to meet with President Kennedy Tuesday to report on its meeting with delegations from the 17 participating nations in the Geneva foreign ministers disarmament conference.

"The (after the meeting) we will have a clearer idea on how to deal with the nuclear tests," added Mrs. Dagmar Wilson of Washington, D.C. "We are determined to stop the forthcoming American test series. We'll do it physically if we have to. You've seen us demonstrate before."

The women arrived at International Airport Saturday night on a flight from London. They had spent five days in Geneva where they met with the delegations.

"The atmosphere was very discouraging," said Mrs. Wilson. "It's a real stalemate."

She said the group included Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., wife of the integration leader, and Mrs. Cyrus Eaton, wife of the Cleveland industrialist. She said the American women were joined by women from 10 other countries when they saw U.S. negotiator Arthur Dean and Soviet Chief Delegate Valerian Zorin.

Minor Injuries Suffered in Route 138 Mishap

Two persons suffered minor injuries in a two-car mishap on Route 138, about 10 miles west of Circleville, at 8:30 a. m. Saturday.

The driver of one car, Ruth M. Sykes, 35, Route 1, Clarksburg, and her passenger, Bruce Sykes, 11, were treated at the office of Dr. Byron Stinson, Clarksburg. The driver suffered a whiplash injury of the neck and the passenger received a severe bump on the head.

Driver of the second auto involved, Ruth E. Barnes, 17, Williamsport, was not injured in the crash according to State Patrolmen.

The accident occurred when the Sykes vehicle's motor failed while backing from a private driveway onto Route 138. The Barnes vehicle, 1958, crashed into the auto parked sideways in the middle of the road.

Both cars suffered only minor damage, the Patrol reported.

Tobacco Stock Prices Plunge

NEW YORK (AP)—Tobacco and steel were weak as the stock market declined in moderate trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .50 at 255.20 with industrials down 1.30, rails up .30 and utilities off .26.

Losses stretched to 3 or 4 points among tobacco and to well over a point among steels. Elsewhere in the list most changes were fractional.

The increasing anti-cigarette campaign abroad, capped by Italy's ban against cigarette advertising jolted the tobacco stocks.

Steels were depressed by reports that incoming orders for steel are not likely to show improvement until fall.

Chemicals, drugs, nonferrous metals and aerospace issues also were mostly lower.

American Tobacco fell more than 4 points. Losses of 3 or more were taken by Lorillard, Liggett & Myers and Reynolds. Philip Morris sank more than 2.

Doctor Becomes 'Better Man' Because of Dying Girl, Age 4

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—Julie Maland, 4, was in an oxygen tent in a hospital, dying of cancer. The blonde, blue-eyed girl looked up, and a smile of recognition lighted her face.

Engineer Bill was standing there, offering her one of the trainman caps he uses on the children's television show he has in Los Angeles.

"I had to put the cap under the oxygen tent so she could touch it," said Engineer Bill Stulla. "She said 'Thank you,' and smiled."

Stulla had hoped to have Julie on his show. But last Monday she had to go to San Pedro Community Hospital.

Stulla went there Sunday night and found Julie "the prettiest little blonde thing you ever saw." He stayed until she fell asleep.

Julie's doctor explained that when she was 2 she fell down and began to hemorrhage. They found she had a cancerous tumor on her kidney.

Both cancer and kidney were removed then, but eight months later the cancer had spread to her lungs.

"Now the end is not far off," said the doctor. "Julie had 150 X-ray and cobalt treatments and we had fair success for more than a year. Now it appears incurable."

Did Julie complain? "If she has a coughing attack and cries, she always apologizes," the doctor said. "She was very active, full of fun, as beautiful a little girl as we've seen."

Julie's parents, Irwin and Pat Maland, have three other daughters.

Julie doesn't really know what's happening in her world of needles, doctors, nurses. But the doctors do. One said, "I'll walk a straighter path and be a better man because I met a person braver than I."

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The leader of 51 members of the Strike for Peace Movement says the group hopes to meet with President Kennedy Tuesday to report on its meeting with delegations from the 17 participating nations in the Geneva foreign ministers disarmament conference.

"The (after the meeting) we will have a clearer idea on how to deal with the nuclear tests," added Mrs. Dagmar Wilson of Washington, D.C. "We are determined to stop the forthcoming American test series. We'll do it physically if we have to. You've seen us demonstrate before."

The women arrived at International Airport Saturday night on a flight from London. They had spent five days in Geneva where they met with the delegations.

"The atmosphere was very discouraging," said Mrs. Wilson. "It's a real stalemate."

She said the group included Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., wife of the integration leader, and Mrs. Cyrus Eaton, wife of the Cleveland industrialist. She said the American women were joined by women from 10 other countries when they saw U.S. negotiator Arthur Dean and Soviet Chief Delegate Valerian Zorin.

Minor Injuries Suffered in Route 138 Mishap

Two persons suffered minor injuries in a two-car mishap on Route 138, about 10 miles west of Circleville, at 8:30 a. m. Saturday.

The driver of one car, Ruth M. Sykes, 35, Route 1, Clarksburg, and her passenger, Bruce Sykes, 11, were treated at the office of Dr. Byron Stinson, Clarksburg. The driver suffered a whiplash injury of the neck and the passenger received a severe bump on the head.

Driver of the second auto involved, Ruth E. Barnes, 17, Williamsport, was not injured in the crash according to State Patrolmen.

The accident occurred when the Sykes vehicle's motor failed while backing from a private driveway onto Route 138. The Barnes vehicle, 1958, crashed into the auto parked sideways in the middle of the road.

Both cars suffered only minor damage, the Patrol reported.

Tobacco Stock Prices Plunge

NEW YORK (AP)—Tobacco and steel were weak as the stock market declined in moderate trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .50 at 255.20 with industrials down 1.30, rails up .30 and utilities off .26.

Losses stretched to 3 or 4 points among tobacco and to well over a point among steels. Elsewhere in the list most changes were fractional.

The increasing anti-cigarette campaign abroad, capped by Italy's ban against cigarette advertising jolted the tobacco stocks.

Steels were depressed by reports that incoming orders for steel are not likely to show improvement until fall.

Chemicals, drugs, nonferrous metals and aerospace issues also were mostly lower.

American Tobacco fell more than 4 points. Losses of 3 or more were taken by Lorillard, Liggett & Myers and Reynolds. Philip Morris sank more than 2.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's weekend traffic accidents were fatal to only five persons.

Nuclear Arms

handed the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo did not surprise American officials.

The action was believed to have a two-fold purpose. It expressed Japan's traditional opposition to any form of nuclear testing and laid the groundwork for possible economic claims in the event of any loss by Japanese fishermen.

The note claimed establishment of a danger zone over a wide area of the central Pacific by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission is contrary to the principle of freedom of the open sea.

U.S. officials feel proper establishment of a danger zone and notification of vessels and aircraft is standard international legal procedure.

The Atomic Energy Commission April 4 warned ships and planes to remain clear of a rectangular area 600 by 800 miles surrounding Britain's Christmas Island and the American atoll of Johnston Island in the mid-Pacific.

President Kennedy announced last month the United States would resume atmospheric nuclear tests at the end of April unless the Soviet Union signed a test ban treaty providing for effective inspections before that time.

U.S. Asks Reds To Outlaw 'War' Books

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Delegate Arthur H. Dean called on the Soviet Union today to outlaw books which dwell on the inevitability of war—including the works of Marx, Lenin and Stalin.

He made the demand in a heated session of the 17-nation disarmament conference in which delegates from East and West clashed on the question of how to eliminate war propaganda.

Dean reiterated that the United States believes this problem can best be dealt with by increasing exchanges of views across the Iron Curtain.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin contended war propaganda should be made a formal crime in every country. He charged American refusal to countenance this indicated the United States is falsely sheltering behind principles of free expression.

Zorin also accused the United States of repressing American citizens who sought peace.

Dean rejected the contention as absolutely false. He said the United States acts only on the principle that any state has the right to prevent subversion by force.

He emphasized that the American government prosecutes only those who advocate force for political ends. His reference obviously was to Communists.

It was at this point that Dean urged the outlawing of books preaching the inevitability of war, and he specifically named the works of Marx, Lenin and Stalin.

Police Apprehend Man on Charge Of Contributing

Arthur R. Daniels, 19, Columbus was apprehended by Circleville Police today on an accusation of contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls.

Daniels and the two girls, ages 14 and 15 and both from Columbus, were picked up by Patrolman Jay Curry. He said all three were drinking coffee in a local restaurant.

According to a report from Columbus authorities, the 15-year-old girl is an escapee from the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in that city. The other apparently is a runaway from home.

Patrolman Curry said he picked up the three when he became suspicious of the girls' ages. Daniels was scheduled to face charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors today in Circleville Municipal Court.

Does BLADDER IRRITATION MAKE YOU NERVOUS?

After 35, common kidney or bladder irritations often occur and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondly, you may lose sleep and suffer from headaches, backache and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYPTEK usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by giving analgesic pain relief. Get CYPTEK as drugstore. $1,353,177 Tax Money Distributed

A total of $1,353,177.39 has been collected and distributed by the Pickaway County Treasurer and Auditor offices for the February settlement of real estate, house trailer, inheritance and irreducible debt taxes. Auditor Marvin Rhoades announced today.

Major share of the money was distributed to the county's 33 government subdivisions and school districts. The February settlement is for December collections, Auditor Rhoades said. The next similar settlement is due in August.

The bulk of the December collection, $1,296,193.12, was provided by real estate taxes in the county's 33 subdivisions.

Mrs. Rhoades, devoting most of last week toward completion of the settlement, said inheritance tax provided $43,918.94. Tractor tax collections were set at $10,182.65 and the irreducible debt at $2,882.68.

Minor Injuries Suffered in Route 138 Mishap

Two persons suffered minor injuries in a two-car mishap on Route 138, about 10 miles west of Circleville, at 8:30 a. m. Saturday.

The driver of one car, Ruth M. Sykes, 35, Route 1, Clarksburg, and her passenger, Bruce Sykes, 11, were treated at the office of Dr. Byron Stinson, Clarksburg. The driver suffered a whiplash injury of the neck and the passenger received a severe bump on the head.

Driver of the second auto involved, Ruth E. Barnes, 17, Williamsport, was not injured in the crash according to State Patrolmen.

The accident occurred when the Sykes vehicle's motor failed while backing from a private driveway onto Route 138. The Barnes vehicle, Route 138, crashed into the auto parked sideways in the middle of the road.

Both cars suffered only minor damage, the Patrol reported.

Doctor Becomes 'Better Man' Because of Dying Girl, Age 4

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—Julie Maland, 4, was in an oxygen tent in a hospital, dying of cancer. The blonde, blue-eyed girl looked up, a smile of recognition lighted her face.

Engineer Bill was standing there, offering her one of the trainmen caps he uses on the children's television show he has in Los Angeles.

"I had to put the cap under the oxygen tent so she could touch it," said Engineer Bill Stulla. "She said 'Thank you,' and smiled."

Stulla had hoped to have Julie on his show. But last Monday she had to go to San Pedro Community Hospital.

Stulla went there Sunday night and found Julie "the prettiest little blonde thing you ever saw." He stayed until she fell asleep.

Julie's doctor explained that when she was 2 she fell down and began to hemorrhage. They found she had a cancerous tumor on her kidney.

Both cancer and kidney were removed then, but eight months later the cancer had spread to her lungs.

"Now the end is not far off," said the doctor. "Julie had 150 X-ray and cobalt treatments and we had fair success for more than a year. Now it appears incurable."

Did Julie complain? "If she has a coughing attack and cries, she always apologizes," the doctor said. "She was very active, full of fun, as beautiful a little girl as we've seen."

Julie's parents, Irwin and Pat Maland, have three other daughters.

Julie doesn't really know what's happening in her world of needles, doctors, nurses. But the doctors do. One said, "I'll walk a straighter path and be a better man because I met a person braver than I."

Nuclear Arms

handed the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo did not surprise American officials.

The action was believed to have a two-fold purpose. It expressed Japan's traditional opposition to any form of nuclear testing and laid the groundwork for possible economic claims in the event of any loss by Japanese fishermen.

The note claimed establishment of a danger zone over a wide area of the central Pacific by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission is contrary to the principle of freedom of the open sea.

U.S. officials felt proper establishment of a danger zone and notification of vessels and aircraft is standard international legal procedure.

The Atomic Energy Commission April 4 warned ships and planes to remain clear of a rectangular area 600 by 800 miles surrounding Britain's Christmas Island and the American atoll of Johnston Island in the mid-Pacific.

President Kennedy announced last month the United States would resume atmospheric nuclear tests at the end of April unless the Soviet Union signed a test ban treaty providing for effective inspections before that time.

U.S. Asks Reds To Outlaw 'War' Books

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Delegate Arthur H. Dean called on the Soviet Union today to outlaw books which dwell on the inevitability of war—including the works of Marx, Lenin and Stalin.

He made the demand in a heated session of the 17-nation disarmament conference in which delegates from East and West clashed on the question of how to eliminate war propaganda.

Dean reiterated that the United States believes this problem can best be dealt with by increasing exchanges of views across the Iron Curtain.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin contended war propaganda should be made a formal crime in every country. He charged American refusal to countenance this indicated the United States is falsely sheltering behind principles of free expression.

Zorin also accused the United States of repressing American citizens who sought peace.

Dean rejected the contention as absolutely false. He said the United States acts only on the principle that any state has the right to prevent subversion by force.

He emphasized that the American government prosecutes only those who advocate force for political ends. His reference obviously was to Communists.

It was at this point that Dean urged the outlawing of books preaching the inevitability of war, and he specifically named the works of Marx, Lenin and Stalin.

Local Boy Scout Officials Will Attend Annual Banquet

Pickaway County Boy Scout officials will attend the annual banquet and budget presentation conference of the Central Ohio Council Tuesday at the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Columbus.

The event is scheduled to open at 5 p. m. with a tour of the Westinghouse plant. The banquet is at 6:30 p. m. and the business meeting will start at 7:30.

This meeting outlines the major program emphasis and budget needs of the Council for the year 1963. It is of the more important leader meetings of the year, according to local officials.

Art Bogen, council president will preside. Attending will be members of the council executive board, members at large, council commissioners, institutional representatives, pack, troop and explorer leaders. The average attendance at these meetings is usually 250 leaders from the nine counties of the council.

THE SESSION affords an opportunity for unit leaders to hear and have explained the aims and objectives of the central Ohio Council. It also is designed to assist them and their institutions in providing the best in program quality and facilities for the Scouts in the nine county area.

Local representatives planning to attend are Harry Diehl, Earl Palm, LeRoy Thomas, Ken Luna, Frank Wirth, Gary Winner and Nick Melvin.

Ohio Doctors Eye Resolutions

Censure of Surgeons Booked for Debate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A proposed censure of the American College of Surgeons heads the list of resolutions submitted by member physicians and county societies for presentation to the Ohio State Medical Association meeting May 14-18 in Columbus.

Delegates from Lima and Allen County ask for censure of the ACS for "utter disregard for the welfare of the medical profession" and "extreme disservice to the profession."

The family feud has simmered for some time between the specialty group and the AMA. A sharp statement against fee splitting made by the surgeon's group last fall is among sources of contention.

An action sponsored by the Cincinnati-Hamilton County delegation proposes that national wire services be requested by the AMA to submit news stories to the local medical society involved for checking before publication. The delegation also seeks the presence of a doctor of medicine be made mandatory at all Ohio high school athletic contests involving body contact.

A resolution by a Madison County delegate asks that no medical doctor be allowed to practice as a board specialist without first serving three years as a general practitioner.

Protesting the "unrealistic and low fee schedule" for medical services established by aid for the aged, Montgomery County delegates want the association to push for an "upward revision" of the scale.

A member from Van Wert County has submitted a resolution urging that "organized medicine as such" withdraw from political activity and that members work for medicine's aims through chambers of commerce and "like organizations."

Steel Outlook Labeled Bright

Order Cancellation Fails To Dim Picture

CLEVELAND (AP)—The outlook for the steel industry is bright despite cancellation of orders resulting from an early settlement with the United Steelworkers Union, Steel Magazine said today.

"Removal of the strike threat will take the boom out of the second quarter and the bust out of the third," the metalworking weekly said. "There will be no frantic rush to build inventories, no need for steelmakers to operate inefficient facilities and no reason for hedge buying of foreign steel. The resulting stability will mean lower costs for everybody."

The magazine said steel producers are finding production scheduling difficult because users are canceling more tonnage than the mills are booking, but despite the cancellations, the producers expect second quarter shipments to hold up pretty well.

One reason for this, it added, is that automobile and appliance manufacturers are enjoying good sales and will use large quantities of steel even though they are trimming their inventories.

Steel said a panel of 58 of the country's top economists predicts this year will be the best in the nation's history and the good times will last at least through the first three months of 1963.

"Gross national product will be a respectable $560 billion, they think, and much of the economy's strength can be credited to the vitality of the metalworking industry," the publication said.

Seasonal factors will push steel consumption in the second quarter about two million tons higher than it was in the first quarter, but because some users will be operating on surplus inventories mill shipments will be about two million tons lower, Steel said.

The output this week is expected to be slightly lower than the 2,400,000 tons the magazine estimated the industry produced last week.

He Rushed To Help

NORTH ROSE, N. Y. (AP)—M. E. Phillips says people do emotional, unpredictable and sometimes foolish things when there is a fire. A farmhouse blaze here in the middle of the night attracted a neighbor who rushed over to help.

"Is there anything I can do?" he asked a volunteer fireman. "Yes!" shouted the fireman. "Get a pail of water!"

"Okay!" yelled the man, and dashed away.

In a moment he was back, but without the pail.

"Do you want well water or rain water?" he asked the fireman

JFK's Tax Aid to Business Draws Opposition

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy's tax incentive plan, aimed at stimulating business by encouraging expansion, is running into opposition — some of it from business.

The so-called incentive plan has been passed by the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate. But the House cut from 8 per cent to 7 per cent the amount which businesses and farms would be permitted to subtract from their income tax for expenditures on equipment and machinery.

The administration let it be known that a fight would be waged in the Senate to restore the cut.

Spokesmen for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers told the Senate Finance Committee that they opposed the proposed tax credit.

These organizations would prefer to have a larger depreciation allowance.

President Kennedy sent Congress a far-ranging program to aid the ailing transportation industry.

It would provide $500 million for public agencies over the next three years which, along with some matching funds, would be used for "the revitalization and needed expansion of public mass transportation."

Kennedy also proposed that Congress wipe out minimum rates prescribed by federal regulation for travel and for shipment of bulk freight, including grain, coal ore and farm and fishery products.

Some rays of encouragement seeped through what has been a darkening economic picture. Economists saw cheerful signs and some statistics bore them out.

"The hesitation is only temporary," said Dr. Marcus Nadler, economic consultant for the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. of New York. "There is no basis for the view that the economy is leveling off or that we are headed for a decline."

The automobile industry is going great guns in both sales and production.

Sales of new American-made passenger cars in March exceeded 600,000, the highest for the month in seven years. General Motors Corp.'s Chevrolet Division said its March deliveries were the highest for any month in its history, totaling 197,705. American Motors reported its sales of 45,402 cars were a record for March.

General Motors built its one millionth car of 1962 Monday. In the first three months of the year the industry turned out 1,766,833 cars, an increase of 47.9 per cent over the 1961 first quarter. Output during the week was estimated at 145,000, highest of the year.

Steel production continued to hum along at about 80 per cent of capacity but the industry looked for a slowdown in the wake of agreement on a new labor contract. Output during the week totaled 2,417,000 tons, up 1 per cent from the prior week.

A glimmer of improvement was sighted in the unemployment situation. Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg reported the number of idle declined by 161,000 in March to 4,382,000. This reduced the unemployment rate to 5.5 per cent of the work force from 5.6 per cent in January.

Employment rose to a new record for March of 66,316,000, up $27,000 from February.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange for the current week rose to 15,286,790 shares from the previous week's 14,924,190. Bond sales on the exchange in the latest week totaled $27,253,000 (par value) compared with the earlier week's $25,953,400.

Other favorable developments included: The Federal Reserve Board reported that outstanding consumer installment credit increased by $236 million in February. This meant that people were more willing to go into debt to buy things. The Commerce Department reported that combined sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers reached a record level of $64.7 billion in February, up 1 per cent from January. Surveys indicated that merchants expect an increase in sales of apparel and home furnishings. Briefly around the business scene: The American Collectors Association says more people are paying their bills on time than at any time since middle 1958. . . . Employment in the iron and steel industry totaled 566,028 in February, highest in 21 months. . . . U.S. smokers paid $3.1 billion in taxes in 1961, the Tobacco Institute estimates.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Showers moved over Ohio during the night and continued over the eastern counties this morning.

The showers are associated with a cold front expected to move beyond the eastern border later this morning. Prospects are then favorable for 36 to 48 hours of dry, cool weather.

The cooler weather moving in behind the showers dropped the temperature to 38 at Dayton and Toledo and to 40 at Cincinnati and Columbus. In other sections of the state, Zanesville reported 52 and Cleveland 50, and in the process of turning cooler.

Bright, dry weather with temperatures in the high 50s and 60s prevailed Sunday. Cincinnati recorded 67, Columbus 64, and Akron 61.

A high pressure area located over Missouri and Arkansas this morning is expected to travel to Ohio, bringing dry, cool weather with frosty temperatures by Tuesday morning.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS
SOUTHERN AND CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average two to four degrees below normal. Minor day-to-day changes. Normal high 60-65, normal low 38-42. Rainfall will average an inch or two about middle and end of week.

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average three to four degrees below normal. Normal high 56, normal low 34-38. Only minor day-to-day temperature changes, with lowest temperatures early in period and again about Friday. Rainfall will average three-fourths of an inch in rain Wednesday or Thursday and again about Saturday.

His Own Interest at Heart

Whenever Nikita Khrushchev or any other occupant of the big office in the Kremlin appears agreeable and cooperative, it behooves Americans to start looking in the closets. It can be assumed that the shoe-pounder sees a major benefit for his people.

Thus a pertinent question, in the wake of Khrushchev's apparent acceptance of the major points in President Kennedy's proposal for joint peaceful exploration of space, is why does the Russian seem so agreeable? Three possible explanations have been advanced:

1. Space exploration promises to be tremendously expensive thus the Soviets hope to ride "piggyback" on U. S. efforts and save rubles for more important (from the Kremlin's viewpoint) tasks such as subverting neutral nations.

2. Although the Soviets have the technical and scientific capability of doing everything the U. S. is doing in outer space the fact is that the U. S. is ahead on everything except the largest rocket boosters. Thus, the Soviets will gain in an exchange of information.

3. The possible military benefits from space exploration are such that the Soviet hope to use the peace program to obtain a military advantage over the West.

All of which points up the fact that U.S. negotiators must be extremely careful that the program remains a two-way street. The U. S. should make sure that whatever is in it for the USSR is not detrimental to this country.

Legal Earthquake

The U. S. Supreme Court has often been accused of changing the law to suit its own sociological persuasions. But the law is also subtly altered at grass-roots levels.

From the moment the ink is dry, any law begins to change according to the way the courts interpret it, no matter how legislators try to pin it down with whereas and therefor. It is a natural process, like evolution or erosion.

But the St. Louis Court of Appeals has handed down a ruling which is far more than a mere shift of the legal shoreline — it is an earthquake.

The court ruled that a prosecutor had prejudiced a jury by quoting a famous eulogy to a dog. The conviction of the dog-killer was set aside. The court opined that there was no evidence the dog in the case had the same qualities as "Old Drum," the dog eulogized by Sen. George Graham Vest in 1870. Therefore, the eulogy "led the jury to decide the case on its emotions rather than by reason and objectivity."

How Clarence Darrow, wherever he is, must be writhing over that. Darrow contended that juries rarely, if ever, think. They nearly always produce decisions based on emotion, rarely on logic.

Now the Appeals Court indicates juries in future must decide "by reason and objectivity." This may produce a fine legal system — but it will have little relation to traditional American law.

One of Six Cars Is Hazard

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

Safety checks of 3½ million U.S. cars and trucks last year found one in six was a highway hazard. The most common defect: Faulty rear lights.

Rural capitalists: More than 80 per cent of American farmers now own at least part of the land they till—an incentive that helps explain why they outproduce Soviet cooperative farms.

What home gadget needs the most repairs? A survey found it was the television set. Least trouble-prone, in order, were the kitchen refrigerator, stove, sewing machine and electric iron.

The teaspoon was introduced around 1650, when Europeans and Americans began drinking tea. The spoons originally had perforated bowls.

One reason why Ireland must be heaven. Baby-sitters charge an average of only 35 cents an hour. Some hotels even provide this service free.

Something to sneeze at: Americans suffer about 115-million head colds a year.

Our quotable notables: "When you get to the end of your rope, tie a knot and hang on."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Inspiration: Many people sing in the bathroom, but Franz Schubert reportedly composed one of his greatest works—his "Unfinished Symphony"—while in the bathtub.

Quips from our contemporaries: Catholic Digest reports this sign in a Manhattan record shop: "Used phonograph for sale, for sale, for sale, for sale."

Even educators can't agree on whether Johnny reads well enough. A poll showed 54 per cent thought present methods of teaching reading are effective, 44 per cent thought they aren't.

History lesson: At least two U.S. presidents died in debt. They were Thomas Jefferson, who owed $40,000, and William Henry Harrison, amount unknown. U.S. Grant left no estate of value except his memoirs — but they netted his family $500,000.

Many large and small business firms today believe their economic safety lies in diversification, but Andrew Carnegie, the rugged little steel tycoon, gave this advice: "Put all your eggs in one basket. Watch that basket!"

Golfers might like this description of their favorite sport: "Golf is a game in which a ball 1½ inches in diameter is placed on another ball 8,000 miles in diameter. The object of the game is to hit the small ball and not the big one."

Do you worry about feeling inferior? Forget it. Psychology tests indicate that smart people often feel inferior, those who are really mentally inferior rarely realize it.

Nature notes: The firefly gives off one of the coolest known forms of light. The ears of fish and snakes have no outside openings—they "hear" through vibrations of the ground or water. Most early spring songs by birds aren't love melodies: they are warning tunes to tell other birds: "I've taken out this nesting area. Go find yourself another one."

It was poet William H. Davies who observed, "The more help a man has in his garden, the less it belongs to him."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Self-service and impulse buying are teaming up to change the face of retail buying. It's getting so you have to have a program to tell a drug store from a super market or in some cases a service station from a hardware store.

Diversifying products and services is based on keener and more imaginative competition and the growing belief that much consumer spending is done on the spur of the moment. A Du Pont study of the sales of many of its consumer goods shows that 70 per cent of all decisions to buy are made after the shopper enters the supermarket.

Hence the trend to the combination supermarket where you can buy a lot of things you can't eat. Supermarkets combining with drug chains is only one evidence of this. More study is being given to the appeal of packaging in attracting the shopper.

Self-service aids impulse buying because it fosters browsing among the shelves or machines, even if originally it was aimed at cutting operating costs or meeting competition from discount houses.

In the new retailing pattern, trade mark design and protection becomes still more vital. Sinclair Booklet distributes an elaborate booklet on the proper use of its new trade mark, for example. Many companies are redesigning theirs.

Some 350,000 trade marks are registered, and new ones flower at the annual rate of 18,000—for new products and firms or to replace old ones.

Changes in packaging and competition between material types, grows keener as the buyer pampers his impulses. For example, Jones & Laughlin Steel is promoting consumer interest in canned soft drinks and foods although it makes neither. It does make the tinplated steel used by can makers and food packers.

Department and food stores aren't alone in turning to self ties held 46 per cent of the house women with well developed impulses. The National Retail Hardware Dealers Association says 20 per cent of its 23,000 members have installed self service in some form or other. And in seven years self service meat departments have increased from 200 to 12,000.

Since most Americans stop at a service station as well as a grocery, the oil companies are giving the product diversification trend a big ride.

Food services are provided at many stations of Standard Oil and of Tidewater Oil. Gulf Oil tempts customers to buy golf balls or headache pills.

Richfield Oil and Indiana Standard are trying out automatic dry cleaning and laundry equipment. Atlantic Refining has at least one gas station offering garden supplies.

Letter to The Editor

Dear Sir:

Mr. Roundtown, congratulations!

You have finally hit the nail right on the head. I remember when the stores were open until 10 and 11 p. m. on Saturday nights and you know what? No one worried about the parking situation.

This town was jammed by 5 p. m. (and even before that) and people parked wherever they could and walked up town.

Farmers for miles around came to town to visit and to buy. And furthermore, they paid cash for what they bought.

This being a Farmer's town, Saturday night was always their night, not Friday. Do you see very many here in town on Friday nights? I don't.

And the parking situation on Friday and Saturday isn't bad at all. There are parking places all day long on Main and Court Streets. What we need are customers to fill the empty parking spaces.

Go to any of the shopping centers and see our former customers there on Saturday nights. This is problem of what is the matter with Circleville could be solved by leaving the stores open late on Saturday nights.

It was rumored that in one store the help didn't want to work Saturday evenings, which was a reason for closing early. There were plenty of ladies who would have been glad to have worked until 10.

You can't put big city ways in a small farming town. It only took the first Saturday night that Circleville closed early to put it where it is now.

But it will take a lot of open Saturday nights to get it started back to where it was in the "good ole days."

THE FIRST TIME a University of Alabama football team appeared in a Rose Bowl game, the late Humphrey Bogart found himself seated next to a distinguished-looking but unidentified man, and started the conversational ball rolling by remarking pleasantly, "I know the name of every player on the Alabama squad, but I couldn't possibly tell you who's president of the University."

"His name is Foster," volunteered the stranger, "but I'm afraid the only reason I know is because I'm he."

A ninth-rate comedian fell madly in love with a luscious young lady appearing on the same bill with him in Waterbury. "I don't have millions like Bob Hope," he told her earnestly, "and I don't travel all over the world like Bob Hope gets to do and I can't afford to give you the kind of home and jewels Bob Hope probably could, but I adore you." "I adore you, too," murmured the luscious young lady, "but tell me more about Bob Hope."

Inside You and Yours

Who cares whether one biorthym theory gave heavy odds that Ingemar Johansson would again trounce Floyd Patterson? Biological rhythms do control you, especially rhythms that follow a 24-hour cycle. After spending energy during the day, you sleep and awaken recharged.

Your first days on earth didn't follow any set pattern, but you soon found the best time to sleep — when sunbeams didn't brighten the nursery, when the house grew quiet and when your temperature dropped and body function slowed. And so you settled on 8 hours of sleep between 11 and 7.

Chemical hormones from the adrenal gland atop each kidney seem to lock the gears that drive this daily rhythm. After low tide soon after midnight, oceans of adrenal chemicals begin to pour out.

When enough accumulates, an internal alarm clock automatically wakes you up. After staying up all night, you may have trouble falling asleep unless your adrenals are geared to night watchman's hours.

Let's Look at Our Own Situation

By George Sokolsky

It appears that the Treasury has gone mad in its search for more pennies.

The proposal to put a withholding tax on interest on savings and on dividends may look like a scheme to soak the rich, to get after the tax-dodger. In fact, it will be a hardship on the widow and orphans, on those who have inherited small amounts and have to live on interest and dividends.

The idea that the person will be able to get the money back at the end of the year is nonsense. What will she live on in the meantime? The rich can send their money to Switzerland or invest in European businesses. The widow and orphan the child who is dependent upon this kind of money to go to college, they cannot go to tax-havens. They are stuck.

The only thing to do should this law be passed is to take the money out of savings banks and buy bonds or some such equity and hide it under the mattress. This could produce a financial panic but it would be of the Treasury's making. The idea of collect first and refund later will make the tax collectors even more hateful than they are now.

It is about time that the Congress restudied the entire question of taxes. Obviously the graduated income tax makes the rich richer and the poor poorer; it destroys incentive and initiative; it impoverishes the spirit of man; it is actually lowering the living standard of our people because a lower quality of goods is substituted.

True, the government needs money in our war against Soviet Russia, but there are better ways of finding the money than the graduated income tax which actually produces a flight of capital. While the poor are being impoverished by taxes and every year the Treasury seeks new ways of depriving Americans of their livelihood and while phony high wages, only part of which the worker gets, outprice our goods in world markets, no one bothers to find a more honest and more equitable way of collecting revenue.

The most satisfactory tax used in many countries, is the transaction tax, sometimes called by other names. This is a tax on every commercial transaction that actually takes place. It has the advantage of cutting out the take-first - and refund later device; it has nothing to do with deductions, with all the mish-mash about expense accounts. Just as we now pay taxes all the time, so under the transaction tax, we shall be paying taxes all the time but it will be on actual transactions, not on taking the cream off the top. And it would be possible to get rid of the horde of tax investigators who fall upon the American people like locusts.

Furthermore, it is morally wrong for the Treasury to employ stool-pigeons, informers, spies to go about seeking for information. These creatures, to get their percentage, pry into the private affairs of people, impersonate government agents, and it is reported, although I cannot prove it, some of them act as double agents, doing a little blackmail on the side.

The income tax on interest on savings banks accounts is particularly nasty and should be opposed actively. I, for one, will vote for no Senator or Representative who votes in favor of such an act, no matter which party he belongs to. I hope that all my readers will adopt the same attitude and will tell their Senators and Representatives so. This is something to be angry about because it strikes directly at those who do not have much money. If they want to soak the rich, why don't they go after the numbered accounts in Swiss banks? Why do we not tell Switzerland that unless they cooperate, we shall break off all relations with that country? Extreme?

Nothing is more extreme than the proposed withholding tax on interest and dividends. If those in charge of our financial affairs cannot think better than that, we must protect ourselves from them.

Our people have become so concerned with what goes on in the Congo and Togo and Vietnam that they have neglected their own house. It is time to look at what is going on at home. Watch the people who are trying to ruin our economy while they pursue the re-making of the world. Let us have a sharp look to home.

GIFT FOR U.S. FROM BORNEO—Experts at the San Diego, Calif., Zoo are puzzled by this gift from Borneo. Not yet identified, it resembles a civet cat, a genet and a mongoose.

Tonight Is Oscar Night in Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tonight is Oscar night in movieland and you'll see some of the year's best acting, especially by nominees who will still be smiling after the other guy's name is called.

It's Hollywood's big show, so away in Santa Monica's Civic Auditorium. Just about everybody will be there but Liz Taylor, who is busy in Rome.

Standard Time. ABC radio and television will cover the event. Armed forces radio will short-circuit.

As the magic hour nears only the movie "West Side Story" seems a shoo i. The smart money picks the big musical to win all or most of the 11 races for which it is nominated.

"Judgment at Nuremberg," also with 11 nominations, and "The Hustler," with 9, also are front runners.

Then there are "Guns of Navarone" and "Fanny." Producers of the former, if they lose, can cry all the way to the bank. It's the year's big money-maker.

If a "West Side Story" bandwagon rolls as predicted, then Natalie Wood, its star, may win best actress—although she was nominated for another picture ("Splendor in the Grass.")

Sophia Loren ("Two Women") gave what many felt was a far superior performance—some critics called it the best since Garbo. She could easily be the first actress winner in the 34-year-old awards who spoke a foreign language (Italian) in her role.

The other distaff competition is potent Geraldine Page, the American Duse, is up for "Summer and Smoke"; Piper Laurie, former flower-eating starlet, for "The Hustler," and Audrey Hepburn for "Tiffany's."

The men's race for top actor is even closer. It's between Maximilian Schell, the Nazi defense lawyer of "Judgment at Nuremberg," and Paul Newman, the pool shark of "The Hustler."

But grandma — and there are plenty of them among the Academy's 2,500 voters—has two favorites — Spencer Tracy ("Nuremberg") and Charles Boyer ("Fanny").

Best longshot bet of the night is Stuart Whitman, the sex deviate of "The Mark."

In the supporting categories, George Chakiris, the Puerto Rican gang leader of "West Side Story," is the favorite.

The previously unknown Chakiris will have rugged jostling with two big names—Montgomery Clift ("Nuremberg") and Jackie Gleason ("The Hustler").

In the feminine supporting race, it's Rita Moreno ("West Side Story") versus Judy Garland ("Judgment at Nuremberg").

Judy is the sentimental choice but the sentiment vote also has Una Merkel ("Summer and Smoke"), Fay Bainter ("The Children's Hour") and Lotte Lenya ("Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone.")

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The recent decision of the U. S. Supreme Court giving city voters the right to take their representation complaints to court stirred new interest in the urban-rural division in the Ohio General Assembly.

The immediate reaction was speculation on the ruling's direct application to Ohio. The consensus of those who spoke publicly on the subject was that it had little if any relation to Ohio's situation.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, a big-city Democrat, said reapportionment of legislative seats is automatically provided for after every federal census. If Ohioans want to change the system, they have the tools of initiative and referendum at their disposal, he said.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer, which favors giving the big cities a bigger voice in the legislature, said editorially it did not see how the federal courts could step in and do something the people of the state had shown little interest in doing.

Beyond that immediate reaction, however, lay a question as much to the point but more difficult to answer.

How unfair to city dwellers is the assignment of seats in the General Assembly?

Clevelanders, supported by many of their counterparts in the seven other Ohio cities with more than 100,000 residents, contend it is quite unfair.

They charge representatives of small, predominantly rural counties can and do block legislation vital to metropolitan interests.

The smaller-county legislators deny this, asserting they view all legislation on its merits and are willing to help the big cities find solutions to their problems.

These arguments illustrate the difficulty of arriving at an absolute answer to the question of legislative equity.

Only one thing seems certain: City dwellers in Ohio are better off than those in most other states, particularly the other big-city states.

This results from Ohio's unique fractional representation system, which gives more populous areas extra seats at they accumulate fractions of population above the basic quotient established by the Ohio Constitution.

Viewing the five regular sessions in a 10-year period as a whole, these fractions of population can be added together from one session to the next and the extra seats scattered through the decade.

The wrench in the works, according to the city people, is the 1903 amendment to the Ohio Constitution allowing each county at least one legislator, regardless of the county's size.

The dispute over the fairness of this rule goes back to the ancient battle over whether representation should be by area or population.

Ohio employs a combination of the two, as does the U.S. Constitution in determining representation in Congress.

Ohio's state senators are elected by districts based on population. Its House members are elected by counties, with population playing a role through the fractional system.

To determine the statistical effect of this, let's use the U. S. Census Bureau's definition and say an urban center is a city of 50,000 or more.

Of Ohio's 88 counties, 13 contain at least one such city. These 13 boast 64.3 per cent of the state's total population, or 6,243,600 of 9,706,400 people.

During the 1959 session of the General Assembly, these 13 counties held 46 per cent of the House seats and 69.6 per cent of the Senate seats. During the 1961 session, their share of the House seats dropped to 44.6 per cent but their cut of the Senate votes rose to 71 per cent.

Numerically, therefore, the city dwellers do not fare badly in the legislature as a whole.

But ardent reapportionment advocates point out their showing in the House is 18 to 20 percentage points below their share of the state's population, and say this difference is enough to block their interests in the legislature as a whole.

This delves into the intangible of what constitutes an "urban attitude." Some cities of considerably less than 50,000 population face problems identical in nature if not in size to those of metropolitan centers.

Additionally, an increasing number of the counties classes as small on a population basis consist largely of residential communities around the metropolises of Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton and Cincinnati.

The legislators from these counties often identify themselves more with the big-city than rural-county thinking. Their voting on recent legislation bears this out.

Democrat Candidates Debate Increase in State Revenue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—

Money, the lack of it, who should say where to get more of it and ways to get more of it were the principle topics during the first of three scheduled debates by three Democrats seeking their party's gubernatorial nomination.

The three—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy and Alexander G. Metrakos of Cleveland—slugged it out verbally here Sunday on the hour-long statewide radio debate.

There were many charges and counter-charges and a splattering of humor, but few real issues came under discussion.

DiSalle explained and upheld his policies. McElroy accused the governor of lack of leadership and character and Metrakos claimed legalized gambling would cure all the state's financial ills.

DiSalle, who spoke first, stuck mainly to education, which he said requires about 50 per cent of the state's general fund.

The governor said Ohio is "not doing the job that ought to be done" for education. He said Ohio was 19th in the nation in teacher's salaries, 40th in expenditures for public education and 42nd for higher education.

"I'm not going to penalize a student for living in Ohio," DiSalle said. "I'm not going to balance budgets at the expense of education in the state."

He said funds would come from existing sources in the excise tax fields. He said there were loopholes to tighten and some exemptions to eliminate.

McElroy charged DiSalle had surrendered leadership to the Republicans who controlled the last legislature.

The attorney general read sections of the Ohio Constitution regarding the duties of the governor which, he said, "means that the governor shall tell the legislature what he wants done—and, where the money will come from."

McElroy charged that early in 1961, at the beginning of the last legislative session, DiSalle "surrendered the leadership required of him by the Constitution." He surrendered his leadership to the opposition party, which he now caustically criticizes for not doing that which he was legally charged to do.

Metrakos, a novice in the political field, urged Ohioans to "face reality." He said, "All the problems of Ohio result from lack of money." Metrakos, who lists his present business as "none," said a state lottery and legalized gambling would solve that problem.

He claimed "gambling is wide open in the state of Ohio, even if it is operating underground."

Tonight Is Oscar Night in Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tonight is Oscar night in movieland and you'll see some of the year's best acting, especially by nominees who will still be smiling after the other guy's name is called.

It's Hollywood's big show, so away in Santa Monica's Civic Auditorium. Just about everybody will be there but Liz Taylor, who is busy in Rome.

Standard Time. ABC radio and television will cover the event. Armed forces radio will short-circuit.

As the magic hour nears only the movie "West Side Story" seems a shoo i. The smart money picks the big musical to win all or most of the 11 races for which it is nominated.

"Judgment at Nuremberg," also with 11 nominations, and "The Hustler," with 9, also are front runners.

Then there are "Guns of Navarone" and "Fanny." Producers of the former, if they lose, can cry all the way to the bank. It's the year's big money-maker.

If a "West Side Story" bandwagon rolls as predicted, then Natalie Wood, its star, may win best actress — although she was nominated for another picture ("Splendor in the Grass.")

Sophia Loren ("Two Women") gave what many felt was a far superior performance—some critics called it the best since Garbo. She could easily be the first actress winner in the 34-year-old awards who spoke a foreign language (Italian) in her role.

The other distaff competition is potent. Geraldine Page, the American Duse, is up for "Summer and Smoke"; Piper Laurie, former flower-eating starlet, for "The Hustler"; and Audrey Hepburn for "Breakfast at Tiffany's."

The men's race for top actor is even closer. It's between Maximilian Schell, the Nazi German lawyer of "Judgment at Nuremberg," and Paul Newman, the pool shark of "The Hustler."

But grandma — and there are plenty of them among the Academy's 2,500 voters—has two favorites — Spencer Tracy ("Nuremberg") and Charles Boyer ("Fanny").

Best longshot bet of the night is Stuart Whitman, the sex deviate of "The Mark."

In the supporting categories, George Chakiris, the Puerto Rican gang leader of "West Side Story," is the favorite.

The previously unknown Chakiris will have rugged jostling with two big names—Montgomery Clift ("Nuremberg") and Jackie Gleason ("The Hustler").

In the feminine supporting race, it's Rita Moreno ("West Side Story") versus Judy Garland ("Judgment at Nuremberg").

Judy is the sentimental choice but the sentiment vote also has Una Merkel ("Summer and Smoke"), Fay Bainter ("The Children's Hour") and Lott Lenya ("Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone.")

TOO MUCH 'PORT' — Fished out of the bay by San Francisco firemen, Seaman George Wolbrink, about 50, admitted "falling overboard" from Pier 14 when he leaned too far starboard because of too much "port."

According to the Florida Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program, the occurrence of blackouts, or memory lapses caused by alcohol, is an early sign of alcoholism.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The huge vote of confidence the French gave their president should make an Algerian solution easier and Charles de Gaulle more difficult.

He got triple approval for what he has done and may want to do in handling Algeria, France and the French allies. He has been a frequent pain to the Allies. Now he'll be a bigger one.

Yet, if France fell under the control of antidemocratic government of the left or right it would be a disaster for the Western military alliance in Europe.

De Gaulle, 71, took over the presidency four years ago at a time of chaos and is probably the only Frenchman who could have produced an Algerian solution without civil war.

Under the old French constitution the parties, through their parliamentary seats, ran the government. They ran it into the ground, wrecking one government after another.

Between the end of the war and the time De Gaulle took over in 1958, France had had a score of governments. When he came in, De Gaulle got the French people to approve a new constitution giving the executive, him, far more power.

Under this constitution, in a major case like Algeria, he can bypass Parliament and go directly to the people for approval in a national referendum. This is what he did Sunday.

He asked the people to vote yes or no on the question of approval for his plan for peace and independence in Algeria where the Moslems outnumber the Europeans, mostly French, nine to one.

That the French people wanted peace, there was no doubt. The financial cost of the war on them was $2 million a day to support a 500,000-man force in Algeria.

There was no room on the ballot for them to vote anything but yes or no. This provided De Gaulle with an excellent chance for asking approval on more than just Algeria.

In a radio-television talk to the nation last Friday night, he made it plain he wanted the voting to be approval of him and his policies, which meant policies still to come and not yet explained. He got it.

One of his promised policies is to modernize the French army before the end of the year, with atomic weapons. He promised this Friday night. It was his answer to those who hoped he might be willing to merge French forces with his neighbors in a truly West European defense.

This is part of his general reluctance to yield any French sovereignty, either in a military way or even in trade. To do so, he suggested, would make France a "backseat" nation.

The Allies might have guessed how painful he was going to be from the moment he took office four years ago, for he said at that time: "I am a man who belongs to nobody and belongs to everybody."

The problem the Allies face with him now is to try to give him a stronger feeling of belonging with them and less with himself and France.

It was never easy before. It will be even tougher now.

Miss Tomlinson and Mr. Arledge Are Wed With Candlelight Ceremony at EUB Church

MRS. HAROLD R. ARLEDGE

A candlelight ceremony united Miss Elizabeth Tomlinson and Mr. Harold R. Arledge in marriage Saturday evening at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tomlinson Sr., 222 W. Mill St. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Arledge, 421 E. Ohio St.

The Rev. O. F. Gibbs read the nuptial vows for the couple before an altar of palms, white gladioli and asters in the glow of candlelight from two seven-branch candelabra.

Thirty minutes of pre-nuptial music was presented on the church organ by Miss Joan Valentine of Chillicothe.

Miss Tomlinson was given in marriage by her father.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown fashioned of bridal satin, designed with a bateau neckline and moulded bodice.

Long sleeves were tapered to a delicate point over the hands. A cravat bow accented the princess silhouette and shimmering bugle beads glistened from the front of the bouffant skirt, sweeping around to terminate into a wide chapel train.

Her bridal veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a Contessa coronet of Aurora crystal.

She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations centered with a white detachable orchid corsage which was accented with ivy strands and flowing white streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Diane Geiger, of Columbus, cousin of the bride. Bridesmaids were Miss DeLoris Grubb, Route 4, and Mrs. Linden Gibson, 1245 S. Pickaway St.

All attendants wore identical coral dresses fashioned with a scoop neckline chiffon skirt and matching three-quarter sleeve lace jackets; matching shoes and circular scalloped veils were fastened to pearl necklaces, gifts from the bride.

They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and pink champagne roses.

Miss Karen Sue Eldridge, niece of the bride, served as flower girl and carried a basket of pink champagne rose petals which she dropped in the path of the bride. She wore a white dress, fashioned with a scoop neckline and short sleeves. Her cummerbund and headband, of coral color, were fashioned with pearls and matched the other attendants ensemble. She also wore a cross necklace as a gift from the bride.

The bridegroom selected Mr. Leo Moats to serve as his best man.

Ushers were Mr. Linden Gibson,

Progressive Meeting Held By AAUW Branch

The Circleville branch of the American Association of University Women held its March meeting on a progressive plan, half on Tuesday, March 27 and the other half on Tuesday, April 3.

On the last Tuesday in March the branch met at the home of Mrs. Robert Hendricks, 1064 Georgia Road, for the board and business meeting. On April 3, the group saw the documentary film, "Question 7", which was shown at the Grand Theatre during the week.

After the movie Mrs. Milford Tassler entertained the members at her home in Knollwood Village, where they discussed the film. The opinion of the group was that the film was "excellent in its actual performance and effective in its subtle, forceful presentation of the problems confronting a non-Communist family in East Germany."

At the branch meeting there were twenty-two members present and one guest, Mrs. Vernon Bell, Spring Hollow Road. Plans were made for guest night on April 24, at which Dr. Hilmar Grimm of Ohio State University will speak on the subject "How People Became Communists." Each member is entitled to extend four invitations for that evening and is asked to report the number and names to Mrs. Hewitt Harmount or to Mrs. Glenn McCoy.

Mrs. Hendricks was assisted in serving refreshments by her co-hostesses, Mrs. Richard Fisher, Mrs. Leland Dunkel, and Mrs. Harold Whitfield.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

Cooperative Living!

DEAR ABBY: I live in an apartment building where people are very friendly. It's the kind of place where they just walk in if your door isn't locked and nobody thinks a thing of it. There is a man living here who works a different shift from his wife. He seems to have a lot of time on his hands and likes to visit with me. (I am married, and don't work out.) This man loves to tell me about his "personal affairs" with other women. I can't figure out whether he is asking me for advice or what. I know his wife and like her. I would rather not hear all this stuff. How can I cut him off without insulting him?

STUMPED BUT GOOD
DEAR STUMPED: Go ahead and insult him! Tell him you are not interested in his private affairs, don't approve of his behavior, and do not want to hear about it. Men who behave this way usually have plans for their listeners. And lock your door.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you about a dear friend of mine. She was married at 18, has been married for three years and has had three babies already. Her husband says he would love to have a baby every year, but, Abby, how long can she keep that up? She is a lovely girl, but she has no help with her house or the babies and it is making an old woman out of her before her time. What should she do? This is between you and me.

A DEAR FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: You are mistaken. It is between your friend and her husband.

DEAR ABBY: I happen to be married to an extremely handsome man who is 12 years younger than I. From time to time I get anonymous phone calls from women who call to tell me that my husband is seeing someone else. There is never anything to it, because I have had him followed.

How can I discourage these anonymous telephone callers?

TIRED OF IT
DEAR TIRED: Say, "If you cannot give me your father's name please give me your mother's."

DEAR ABBY: If there is a reader somewhere who has caught her husband being unfaithful and has forgiven him and has since had a happy marriage, would you please ask her to tell her story? I need it so desperately now. She doesn't have to sign her name.

The bride's mother wore a light blue lace-over-taffeta dress with a matching three-quarter sleeve jacket, blue hat and gloves, with black shoes and bag. Her corsage was a double white cymbidium.

Mrs. Arledge, the bridegroom's mother, wore a beige organza dress with a white lace bodice. Her accessories were beige and she also wore a corsage of a double brown cymbidium.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, a reception was given in the service center of the church. Refreshments were served from a table centered with a four-tiered wedding cake. Poms, dyed azalea, pine and bunches of of Springri led from the cake to each end of the table where punch bowls were appointed.

Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Melvin Geiger, Mrs. Charles L. Tomlinson Jr. and Mrs. Edward Tomlinson. Mrs. Thomas Strawser, sister of the groom, presided at the guest register.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Arledge are presently on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada. For her trip, Mrs. Arledge wore a three-piece beige and brown jersey suit with bone-colored accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid taken from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside at 715 E. Spruce St., Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

The bride is a 1960 graduate of Circleville High School and prior to her wedding was employed as bookkeeper by The Herald.

Mr. Arledge was graduated from Circleville High School in 1960 and worked at the local Coca Cola Bottling Co. before entering the US Air Force in September 1960. Presently he is stationed at Kincheloe AFB, Mich.

Coach Taylor of OSU Enjoys Song Written by Local Lads

Two young Circleville lads, Mike Young and Ty Ankrom, recently received the thrill of their lives when Fred Taylor, Buckeye basketball coach, acknowledged a letter and a song that they had mailed to him.

The lads wrote the song themselves. It is sung to the tune of "My Boomarang Won't Come Back". Here is part of the wording of their version:

My basketball won't go through, I shot the thing all over the place I'm a big disgrace to the Buckeye race.

My basketball won't go through, I've watched Big Luke, And Havlicek, too.

I'm a big disgrace to the Buckeye race.

My basketball won't go through, Fred Taylor sent this answer back to Mike and Ty.

Dear Mike and Ty: Thanks so very much for your letter and song. It is cheering to know that someone else experiences the difficulty that we do sometimes.

All I can say is, just keep practicing and maybe some day your basketball will go through.

Thanks again; it's nice to hear from fans like you.

Inclosed in the letter were autographs of Jerry Lucas and John Havlicek for each of the boys.

Ty is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ankrom and Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Young. They live on N. Pickaway St.

Hondo Is Guest Speaker Tonight

John (Hondo) Havlicek will be guest speaker at the Circleville Booster Club basketball banquet tonight in the 4-H and Grange Building at the County Fairgrounds. The annual event honors the varsity, reserve, freshman and junior high basketball teams and cheerleaders.

The banquet is scheduled to start at 6:30 p. m.

Bivens Sparks Tiger Golfers

Local Squad Defeats Franklin Heights, 16-0

Tom Bivens, medalist, paced the Circleville golf squad to a 16 to 0 win over Franklin Heights Saturday on a wet Pickaway Country Club course.

Bivens posted rounds of 37 and 36 for a 73 total for the 18 holes. This was an outstanding one over par considering the condition of the course. Bivens shot two birdies and three bogeys.

Bob Fuhrman shot a 79 for 18 holes. Young Bruce Helwage finished with an 80 and Tim Dickinson had an 86.

George Overfield posted the best rounds for Franklin Heights. He had a 48 on the first round and a 47 on the second for a total of 95 — nine strokes more than his opponent, Tim Dickinson.

COACH Bob Ransom said water was nearly ankle deep over much of the course. A light drizzle fell during the early morning.

The Circleville golfers' next match will be Saturday when they host Pleasant View at the Pickaway Country Club course.

Urbana Girls Pace Bowling Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Commonwealth Life Insurance of Urbana moved into the top team position in the 36th annual Ohio Women's Handicap Bowling Tournament here Sunday, the 10th week of competition. The Urbana team rolled a 3214 series to take the lead.

Kay Hope of Warren leads the singles competition with a 721 series; Dorothy Murray and Janis Lambert of Toledo top the doubles with 1334, and Pat Murray of Cincinnati heads the all events with 1832.

The 13-week tournament ends May 8.

Pender-Fullmer Bout Slated For Future

BOSTON (AP)—It appears that Paul Pender and Gene Fullmer will finally resolve their middle-weight title dispute in late spring or early summer.

Only the site seems to be in dispute now that Pender, a former fireman, has doused the title flame in the heart of Britisher Terry Downes.

Pender, 31, regained his portion of the crown with a unanimous 15-round decision over the tough Cockney at Boston Garden Saturday night, drawing invitations from Fullmer's manager and promoter Norm Rothschild to battle out their title claims.

"Gene would like a fight in May or June and is perfectly willing to meet Pender then if the site and terms can be worked out," said Marv Jensen from West Jordan, Utah.

Promoter Rothschild said he is ready to offer both claimants a large chunk of money for the fight, with television interested in providing a large percentage of it.

"It's going to take at least $125,000 each for Pender and Fullmer to close this," he said, "and I'm ready with that kind of bidding."

Booster Officials To Meet Tuesday

Circleville Booster Club officers and directors have scheduled a special meeting for Tuesday.

President Charles Hart said the session will start at 7:30 p. m. in the social rooms at the high school.

Not One Pilot Pessimistic As Baseball Season Opens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There wasn't a pessimistic manager in the pennant picture as major league baseball opened the 1962 season on two fronts today with the other openers to follow Tuesday.

Traditionally, the American League stages its inaugural in Washington, D.C., where the Senators launch the season in spanking new 43,500-capacity District of Columbia Stadium. The Detroit Tigers provide the opposition.

After President Kennedy tosses out the first ball, Bennie Daniels, a right-hander, will take the mound for the Senators. He will be opposed by southpaw Don Mossi.

Another capacity crowd was expected to attend the National League's sneak preview at Cincinnati's Crosley Field, where the defending champion Reds take on the Philadelphia Phillies. Joey Jay was scheduled to pitch for the Reds, against the Phillies Art Mahaffey.

The other clubs swing into action Tuesday.

For the first time since 1889, the National League will field 10 teams, thus joining the American in an expansion program that eventually may be enlarged to

Pipers, Steers Set For Final Contest

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The American Basketball League championship will be decided in Kansas City tonight when the Cleveland Pipers and the Kansas City Steers meet in the final game of the best-of-five series.

Originally scheduled for Sunday night, the Cleveland team did not show up for the contest because the team's president, George Steinbrenner, had protested selection of the playing site. He contended the league agreed in a meeting at Chicago two weeks ago to hold the last three games in an Eastern division city.

But Abe Saperstein, commissioner of the league, ruled Sunday the game must be played in Kansas City no later than tonight.

Leon Wagner, Los Angeles Angel outfielder, finished the 1961 season with home runs in the last four American League games.

either two 12-team leagues or three 8-team leagues.

In addition to presenting two new teams in Houston and New York, the majors will unveil three new stadiums—in Los Angeles, Washington and Houston—four new managers and dozens of new faces which the owners hope will keep the turnstiles clicking through 162-game programs.

The experts have picked the Yankees and Los Angeles Dodgers as the teams to beat. The Yankees, winners of 11 pennants in the last 13 years, are an overwhelming favorite in the American League. At least four teams —San Francisco, Milwaukee, St. Louis and Cincinnati — are given a good chance to pull an upset in the National, where another wide-open race seems to be in the offing.

The Dodgers have the over-all talent, the Giants have the power, and the Reds the pitching. The Cards, tabbed as a dark horse by many observers, probably are the most improved over last year.

The two new National League managers, Harry Craft at Houston and Casey Stengel at New York, don't figure to maneuver their teams higher than seventh place, a remarkable feat if either can do it. The Colts will make their temporary home in a 32,200-seat park until their domed air-conditioned new 50,000-seat stadium is completed. The Mets will use the refurbished Polo Grounds this season.

New American League managers are Mel McGaha at Cleveland and Billy Hitchcock at Baltimore. Both clubs are expected to figure in the pennant race with the Orioles rated on a par with the Tigers to give the Yankees their sternest opposition.

Ralph Houk, who steered the Yankees to a pennant in his first attempt after replacing Stengel in 1961, thinks his team will win again.

"I see no reason why we shouldn't win again," Houk said, "although I'm not taking anything away from the other clubs. Detroit has a strong team while Chicago and Baltimore have improved. However, we are solid everywhere and we are going into the season with a stronger pitching staff than we did last year."

Fred Hutchinson, who did a magnificent job piloting the Reds to a surprise championship last year, thinks his team is capable of repeating despite a crippling injury to third baseman Gene Freese.

"We fooled a lot of experts last year and we may fool 'em again," he said. "Our players are confident and capable."

Booster Team Sets Drill Dates For Buck Tilt

Practice dates for the Booster Club cagers who will play the Ohio State Senior basketball team May 5 in the Circleville Gym have been announced.

The first practice session will be 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the high school gym. Other drill dates will be April 13, 18, 25 and May 2.

The Ohio State team will consist of senior members of this year's Big Ten championship team. They are Mel Nowell, Jerry Lucas, John Havlicek, Bobby Knight and Gary Gearhart.

Local cagers who have been contacted by the Booster club to play are Paul Sarchet, Don Neff, Delbert Neff, Loren Alexander, Vic Pontius, Dave Myers, Tom Cassidy, Frank Mickey, Tom Tyler, Bob Eitel, Dave Smith, Bob Pontious, John Dougherty, Charley Johnson and Bob Wellington.

Russ Gregg and Keith Merrin will serve as player coaches for the Booster Club squad.

Patrick Horse Earns Honors For His Owner

Tuffy Tom, a registered quarter horse stallion, owned and ridden by Bob Patrick, Ashville, won first place in the Keyhole and the Western Pole Bending contests at the Ohio Spotted Horse Association Benefit Show held at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum, Columbus.

More than 1,500 horses from 21 states were at the show. In the Keyhole race there was a total of 55 entries.

Patrick also placed fifth in a field of 63 in the Open Clover Leaf Barrel Race with his horse.

Patrick's son, Gary, rode Tuffy Tom to second place in the Western Pickup Race. Young Patrick was involved in a three way tie for second place. In the race off he beat the winning time of the event.

Patrick is a member of the Ashville Riding Club. He is a past president of the organization.

Whitey Ford of the Yankees was the first left-handed pitcher in American League history to win 8 games in one month.

Bivens Sparks Tiger Golfers

Local Squad Defeats Franklin Heights, 16-0

Tom Bivens, medalist, paced the Circleville golf squad to a 16 to 0 win over Franklin Heights Saturday on a wet Pickaway Country Club course.

Bivens posted rounds of 37 and 36 for a 73 total for the 18 holes. This was an outstanding one over par considering the condition of the course. Bivens shot two birdies and three bogeys.

Bob Fuhrman shot a 79 for 18 holes. Young Bruce Helwegen finished with an 80 and Tim Dickinson had an 86.

George Overfield posted the best rounds for Franklin Heights. He had a 48 on the first round and a 47 on the second for a total of 95 — nine strokes more than his opponent, Tim Dickinson.

COACH Bob Ransom said water was nearly ankle deep over much of the course. A light drizzle fell during the early morning.

The Circleville golfers' next match will be Saturday when they meet Pleasant View at the Pickaway Country Club course.

Urbana Girls Pace Bowling Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Commonwealth Life Insurance of Urbana moved into the top team position in the 36th annual Ohio Women's Handicap Bowling Tournament here Sunday, the 10th week of competition. The Urbana team rolled a 3214 series to take the lead.

Kay Hope of Warren leads the singles competition with a 721 series; Dorothy Murray and Janis Lambert of Toledo top the doubles with 1334, and Pat Murray of Cincinnati heads the all events with 1832.

The 13-week tournament ends May 8.

Coach Taylor of OSU Enjoys Song Written by Local Lads

Two young Circleville lads, Mike Young and Ty Ankrum, recently received the thrill of their lives when Fred Taylor, Buckeye basketball coach, acknowledged a letter and a song that they had mailed to him.

The lads wrote the song themselves. It is sung to the tune of "My Boomerang Won't Come Back". Here is part of the wording of their version:

My basketball won't go through, My basketball won't go through, I shot the thing all over the place I'm a big disgrace to the Buckeye race.

My basketball won't go through, I've watched Big Luke, And Havlicek, too.

I'm a big disgrace to the Buckeye race.

My basketball won't go through, Fred Taylor sent this answer back to Mike and Ty.

Dear Mike and Ty: Thanks so very much for your letter and song. It is cheering to know that someone else experiences the difficulty that we do sometimes.

All I can say is, just keep practicing and maybe some day your basketball will go through.

Thanks again; it's nice to hear from fans like you.

Inclosed in the letter were autographs of Jerry Lucas and John Havlicek for each of the boys.

Ty is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ankrum and Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Young. They live on N. Pickaway St.

Hondo Is Guest Speaker Tonight

John (Hondo) Havlicek will be guest speaker at the Circleville Booster Club basketball banquet tonight in the 4-H and Grange Building at the County Fairgrounds. The annual event honors the varsity, reserve, freshman and junior high basketball teams and cheerleaders.

Lucas Says He's Undecided What To Do with His Future

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Lucas, a young man with some big decisions to make, hasn't.

This is a fact. Any reports to the contrary concerning Lucas' future, in or out of basketball, are based on speculation.

Who says so? Jerry Lucas. Lucas, who was 22 years old on March 30, says he has no commitments past a series of speaking engagements during the next six weeks and a number of bas-

Finsterwald Not Awed By Opposition

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Dow Finsterwald was a man between two irresistible golfing forces today.

But the 32-year-old Athens, Ohio, native, who plays out of Tequesta, Fla., wasn't over-awed by the caliber of his opposition—Gary Player and Arnold Palmer—in a three-way playoff for championship of the Masters Golf Tournament.

"They're both great players," Finsterwald said of Player and Palmer. "But a lot can happen in 18 holes. Anything can happen on a golf course. It should be a very interesting playoff."

Finsterwald, winner of the 1958 PGA title, is one of the most consistent players in the game, although he seldom makes the winner's circle. He once had a streak of being in the money for 72 straight tournaments.

He is best remembered here, however, for taking a two-stroke penalty in 1960 which knocked him out of the race. Finsterwald took a practice putt after holing out one of three greens in that tournament. The following day he learned it was against the rules and turned himself in.

Finsterwald hasn't won a tournament in more than two years. His best previous finish this year was a tie for fifth at the San Francisco Open.

Baylor, West Keep Life in Laker Cause

BOSTON (AP)—Jerry West and Elgin Baylor are sending Los Angeles home all even with Boston in the National Basketball Association playoff finals.

West scored 40 points and Baylor, the Army private on leave, added 36 in a 129-122 victory Sunday which knotted the best-of-seven series at one game apiece. The next games are on the Lakers' court Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

"We came here to win two games but we're happy to leave with a split," said Laker coach Fred Schaus.

He praised Baylor for his play, particularly because he never has a chance to practice with the team and the best he can do while performing his Army duties is to keep in condition. Schaus added that Baylor's timing is off.

Boston coach Red Auerbach lost composure in the losing dressing room concerning Baylor.

"Let's face it, this guy is a fabulous ball player," Auerbach said. "But I'm sick of hearing that his timing is off. That's a blessing in disguise."

Baylor was due to learn today at Ft. Lewis, Wash., about his availability for the mid-week games, expecting his accumulated leave will be okayed.

ketball exhibitions with his teammates at Ohio State the past three seasons.

Among the offers Lucas has heard is one from the Cincinnati Royals who made him their No. 1 draft choice for 1962 while he was still in high school at Middletown.

Lucas met with Royals' executive vice president Tom Grace and general manager Pepper Wils in Columbus Friday.

Wilson described it as a "preliminary meeting... we wanted to talk with Jerry and get his feelings. So much has been said and printed about what we would offer and what he wanted or didn't want. We mainly wanted to clear up some of the rumors."

"We talked about many things and hope to talk some more. Jerry is a fine young man who has been a great credit to basketball already. We believe he would be a definite asset to the Royals and that we can make him an offer which he will find acceptable."

Lucas would say only that he had "talked with" the Royals, and would not discuss the amount or terms of any offer.

Before the meeting it had been reported that Cincinnati would attempt to land Lucas with a three-year contract worth at least $100,000.

The three-time all-America also said he has had meetings with representatives of several business and industrial concerns and that he has been contacted by the Cleveland Pipers who hold draft rights to him in the American Basketball League.

"When the time comes," said Lucas, "I'll try to evaluate everything and do what's best. I have to consider my family and my future. I don't feel I need to do anything hasty that I might regret later."

Meanwhile, Lucas is solidly booked for speaking engagements in Ohio and neighboring states through May. He was withdrawn from the spring quarter at Ohio State, leaving him with two quarters of study to complete for his bachelor's degree in marketing.

Pillow Fight Floor

NEW YORK (AP) — An elevator load of guests at New York's Commodore Hotel was startled when the elevator stopped at the 14th floor and a 12-year-old boy clad in pajamas and carrying a pillow, got aboard.

"Where are you going, sonny?" asked the elevator operator.

"Sixteen," said the boy.

"What are you going to do up there?"

"We're going to have a pillow fight," said the boy, "and I'm bringing my own pillow."

PROPER REMOVAL — A member of Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company's service crew safely removes one of the many kites caught in power lines this spring.

Electric Company Promoting Kite Flying Safety Measures

A request to "Call the Electric Co." is part of an annual spring campaign to help promote safety in kite flying.

Parents and children too, are urged to call Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. Division Office and report exact location of kites caught in the electric lines. A service crew will be sent immediately to remove the kite safely.

When a kite becomes entangled in a power line, there is little danger that it will cause an outage immediately. But hours later, or overnight, it may pick up enough moisture to short out a circuit causing several hundred customers to be without service temporarily.

Colorful posters, together with Yogi Berra comic books are being distributed to 4th, 5th, and 6th grades in both public and parochial schools. These tell an appealing story of safety precautions which should be observed by anyone preparing to fly a kite.

BOTH posters and comic books stress the point that kites should be flown in wide, open spaces away from electric wires, trees, TV antennas and other obstructions. The posters also point out the danger of attempting to remove a kite from a power line by pulling on the string, or climbing the pole to retrieve it.

Another precaution warns "When constructing a kite, don't use tinsel string, wire or an metal in tail or frame". As an important part of the safety campaign, the Electric Co. is appealing to parents, teachers and youth leaders who can help by informing children of the potential dangers of kite flying.

Everyone is requested to give a helping hand by calling Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company Division Office if a kite is sighted in the electric lines. The number is GR 4-2112.

They became unruly in the receiving ward. Farnsworth told them to leave. They did, but returned, and tried to start a fight. Farnsworth drew his pistol to frighten them and the weapon discharged. The bullet hit the pavement and glanced up to strike Miss Wahoff in the side, causing a superficial wound.

Police identified those arrested as: Zeno Hartford Perry, 22, of Hamilton, and five Cincinnatians, David A. Blazer, 20, Donald R. Pritchett, 20, Ronald W. Larkin, 20, James R. Scudder, 21, and Roosevelt MacArthur Greer, 20.

Rhodes Holds His Campaign In Low Key

CLEVELAND (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes, confident of the Republican nomination for governor in the May primary, came to Cleveland Sunday with a low-key campaign.

He told newsmen he wasn't going to unload his heavy artillery in the gubernatorial race until after the primary when he learns who the Democratic opponent is.

He talked for 15 minutes on the philosophy of government to about 50 persons attending the St. James Literary Forum. "I've been told it's Democratic territory, and the speech was just to get acquainted," Rhodes said.

Later he shook hands with 300 persons at a reception at the Cleveland Call and Post Building, sponsored by a Republican club.

"Once the primary is over, the pace of these informal meetings will pick up," Rhodes said. "And that's when the verbal barrage will begin."

At the forum, Rhodes said the public should not look to Washington to solve its problems. "Government is here, in the township, school district, city, county and state," he declared.

He restated his pledge to examine critically all state expenses and taxes, adding:

"We can have only financial chaos and creeping unemployment unless we stabilize our taxes. Unless we do, industry will not be able to project tax payments, and so provide for expansion."

Court Receipts Are $6,867 During March

Circleville Municipal Court receipts for fines, court costs bond forfeitures and parking ticket violations during March totaled $6,867.95.

An itemized account of the month's collections showed: fines and bond forfeitures, $4,579.25; court costs, $2,225.15; and parking ticket fines collected $63.55.

A total of 212 criminal cases were filed during March and 228 cases were disposed of. Thirteen civil cases were filed and five were filed and five were concluded.

Disbursement of court receipts were: Circleville, $3,694.42; Pickaway County, $615.16; Auditor of State (45 per cent of Highway Patrol Fines), $1,458.67; Pickaway County Law Library, $971.75; and miscellaneous disbursements such as subpoena fees and for alcohol blood analysis totaling, $127.95.

New Whooping Crane Hatches In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Crip and Josephine are two bashful whooping cranes determined to do something about preserving their nearly extinct species.

Their fifth offspring cracked through its egg Sunday at Audubon Zoo to increase the world population of the rare bird to 48.

Crip and Josephine are taking turns incubating a second egg, which zoo director George Douglass believes will hatch by the end of the week.

The two adult whooping cranes, who are so shy Douglass keeps them away from public view, hatched the first of their species ever born in captivity four years ago.

The rusty-colored baby crane is about twice the size of a newly hatched chick.

"It's a very healthy bird," said Douglass, who put the baby under a 24-hour watch. "We are hopeful it won't catch aspergeriosis."

He said there is no known cure for the disease—a lung fungus caused by an airborne germ. It doesn't affect domestic fowl and many wild birds, but Audubon lost two cranes from the disease in the past.

Slides Scheduled At Ashville Church

Slides of the 1960 Passion Play of Oberammergau, Germany will be shown at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the Church of Christ in Christian Union, Ashville.

The Christy family of Grove City will present the slides. A program of sacred songs and Scripture readings has been arranged to accompany the presentation.

The story of the Crucifixion, the Resurrection and the Ascension of Jesus Christ is portrayed.

The Rev. Roy Ferguson will direct the service.

"THE GENERAL" STEAMS AGAIN—This ancient locomotive, "The General," which won historic fame in the Civil War when a band of Union raiders hijacked it in Georgia and nearby Casey Jonesed it to behind their lines in the North, will recreate that century-ago run April 14. "The General," repainted and refurbished, is shown on an antique trestle in Louisville, Ky., waiting to steam again.

Two Vandalism Reports Checked

Two complaints of vandalism were investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department during the weekend.

Yesterday Carl DeBruin, Route 4, reported a large number of windows were broken at the Florence Huber homeplace. Deputy Gene Kerns said the house was ransacked.

Deputy Kerns said 53 windows (30 by 12 inches) were smashed in the home, along with 18 glasses (8 by 8 inches) in an outhouse.

On Saturday Herbert Justice, Route 2, Williamsport, reported that a rifle or pistol shot shattered the rear glass of his car. Deputy Kerns also investigated this incident.

PROPER REMOVAL—A member of Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company's service crew safely removes one of the many kites caught in power lines this spring.

Electric Company Promoting Kite Flying Safety Measures

A request to "Call the Electric Co." is part of an annual spring campaign to help promote safety in kite flying.

Parents and children too, are urged to call Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. Division Office and report exact

When a kite becomes entangled in a power line, there is little danger that it will cause an outage immediately. But hours later, or overnight, it may pick up enough moisture to short out a circuit causing several hundred customers to be without service temporarily.

Colorful posters, together with Yogi Bear comic books are being distributed to 4th, 5th, and 6th grades in both public and parochial schools. These tell an appealing story of safety precautions which should be observed by anyone preparing to fly a kite.

BOTH posters and comic books stress the point that kites should be flown in wide, open spaces away from electric wires, trees, TV antennas and other obstructions. The posters also point out the danger of attempting to remove a kite from a power line by pulling on the string, or climbing the pole to retrieve it.

Another precaution warns "When constructing a kite, don't use tinsel string, wire or an 'metal in tail or frame'." As an important part of the safety campaign, the Electric Co. is appealing to parents, teachers and youth leaders who can help by informing children of the potential dangers of kite flying.
